H. J. GILLEN.

A Question Answered.

The question which has been most often asked during the past twenty-one years, as each recurring season comes around, has been asked more frequently during the past twenty days by all classes of citizens: What on earth is Gillen going to do with so many fine dress goods? Of all new and most beautiful colorings; of every new or desirable fabric, with trimmings of all sorts and descriptions, the stock on hand invites the question: What on earth is Gillen going to do with them all and at such ruinously low prices? The question is readily and easily answered: The prices made on the line by the house would move a mountain of such materials did the house have the space to contain them. The same is true of the CARRY STOCK, which is commanding the finest trade of any house west of Chicago. Indeed, this carpet stock is fast leaving all competitors behind, the natural result of six years of watchfulness of the wants of the community backed by the closest prices, goods in every case warranted as represented. These have built up a trade almost incredible in this department. Carpets are now made and laid by this house on short notice, in the city or in the country without extra charge. This department contains also a complete line of curtains and curtain goods of every description. Windows are measured and curtains made and put up in the best manner.

But no department of the house has shown greater advancement than the boot and shoe department. From a "side issue" of a few years ago it has grown to the magnitude of an independent business. The department is compact, but it contains every line of goods carried by the best boot and shoe houses anywhere—from the finest ladies', misses or men's shoes to the cheapest grades. Every line is warranted; and prices will be found to rule much below "boot and shoe" prices.

The general stock of dry goods merits attention, though we can here but call attention to it. It certainly will not disappoint any buyer either as to stock or low prices. Special notice might be made of the hosiery, notion and white goods stocks.

These, with the grocery department, exceeding in importance and volume of business done, any other house in the city, it will be seen, make H. J. GILLEN'S par excellence the ideal general stock of the country.

THE FINEST VAPOR STOVES EVER SHOWN IN OTTAWA AT MANLEY & JORDAN'S.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Christ church will give a tea at the residence of Mrs. Geo. V. Hull, on Thursday evening, May 3, at 6 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

The new bridge at the head of La Salle street will be in condition for travel by this evening. Street Supervisor Scherer and a force of men worked on the approaches on Thursday and Friday, and will finish them with a coat of gravel to-day. A singular freak was developed in the ploughing off of the hill. A gas pipe had burst and the gas escaping for years, burned the earth into black dry ashes, emitting a horrible stench. The dirt was dumped into Washington street to fill up holes near the state yard. The walks at the south end of the bridge will be constructed of the old stone curbing taken from around the court house.

Anybody can sell you a necktie, but it is not everybody who can furnish a stylish one. We have received a late consignment of all the latest colors, checks and styles, in the new and correct styles for May. There is no use in buying a tie that is off style and off fabric for the same price that we charge for the best. The hat will become our and our stock is so comprehensive that any one can be suited among a thousand and one patterns. FISKE & BEEM.

Wear and Style.

We have just received an invoice of hats and caps, and our hat department is starting at the seams for want of room. We are crowded to death with hats and caps—lots of them for gentlemen and a host for the boys. They are as stylish as they can be made, and have the requisite qualities of durability. You will wear a hat with more pride if it is stylish, and are willing to pay a reasonable price for it if it is durable. We ask nothing but prices in reason and they are the lowest price to all. FISKE & BEEM.

Dr. A. T. Olmstead has been acting a little mysteriously for several days, but when the FREE TRADER man called yesterday afternoon to find out what was going on there the apparent secrecy was dissipated, for he was ushered into the nearest and most elegantly appointed dental office in La Salle county. The office, situated in Union block, on La Salle street, has the east light, and comprises three fine rooms, en suite. The reception room is entered from the hallway directly at the head of the stairs, and is furnished in quiet, yet elegant taste. Hanging curtains, of soft India stuff, separate the reception room from the waiting apartment, which is the prettiest of the suit. It is papered in granite, with light chocolate border and a unique ceiling. The floor is laid in elegant, light brussels of an exquisite pattern, and the general air of the room, with its soft tints, its subdued shades of light and its light easy chairs, is one that will delight the connoisseur, and shows a fine artistic taste and thoughtful study. The operating room, separated by a neat mahogany finished partition, is very light and has a refreshing air of comfort and ease. Indeed, the doctor has fitted up the apartments in a permanent and really elegant manner, making it one of the most charming suits of rooms in the city. He is certainly to be congratulated.

Prince Albert suits, fine cutaway suits, elegant sack suits, all to be had in greatest abundance at Oak Hall the one price clothing store.

OTTAWA IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION:—Between Rock Island Railway and Feeder, on east side of the road, are eleven houses. In front of them and between them and the road is a wide strip of land. This ought to be enclosed and set out with trees. A little park two or three rods wide might then be formed which would add greatly to the beauty of that part of our country and be seen by travelers to the distant west, or to the benighted and tariff-bound protected east. We urge immediate attention to this, in hope that the city, the Association, and the inhabitants along that road may together improve that street this spring.

Does It Pay to Breed Cleveland Bay Horses?

This is a question often asked by farmers. There are good and sufficient reasons for asking this question. This race of fine coach and carriage horses has but recently been introduced into our county. In answer to this question Mr. Prichard, the first man to introduce the breed in La Salle county, submits the following statement, giving number of foals sired by "Baron Rydale" the season he was three years old, giving the number sold and average price of same, also the number in breeder's hands and their value.

"Baron Rydale" had dropped to him in the spring of 1883 twenty-two colts that lived to be over two years old. Twelve of this number have been sold in La Salle county at an average price of $172 per head.

One was sold at two years old. Five at three years old. Three at four years old. Three at coming five years old. Six of the twenty-two remain in the hands of their breeders. For the six on delivery sound as when last seen, he will give $1,032, or the average price of the twelve already sold.

Of the four remaining one died, one met with an accident and had to be destroyed, and the other two have been lost sight of. The number sold includes nothing but mares and geldings. When the class of mares to which he was bred is taken into account, the result is very satisfactory. Mares were presented to him that were too small to breed draught horses, and not speedy or well enough bred to raise trotters, and still the average of eighteen out of twenty-two at the age is a wonderfully good showing.

Within the past sixty days four of his get have sold for an average of $240 each. Only one of these is included in the list above of 1883. Should anyone be skeptical as to this statement, if they will call at the stables on the south side names, figures and places of residence will be cheerfully given. Talk is cheap, but it takes money to buy Rydale's horses.

Hit by a Horse.

Harry Shaw had a close call for the lower part of his face on Wednesday morning. He entered the stall of a vicious mare, owned by Mr. Wm. Frye of the west side, and approached her on the off side, and the animal being blind in the off eye, did not perceive his presence until quite close to her. When she suddenly turned her head and grasped the whole lower part of his face in her mouth. He saw his danger, and jerked back, loosening her hold, but the marks of her teeth and a swollen countenance gave evidence of a narrow escape.
